Twenty-six falesmen for duty on the Police Court jury were examined yesterday afternoon by Judge John F. McMahon and twelve were elected to serve. These, with the eight selected Monday, still leaves a shortage of six men, which will be made up from fifteen falesmen called for today. A general variety of excuses were offered by those who desired to evade service. The descent of Victoria Falls, in South Africa, by William Stowell and Pliny Horne, was the last spectacular stunt in the life of Stowell, and the last, for a long time, at least, for Horne. Stowell, with Dr. J. R. Armstrong, business manager of the Smithsonian African Expedition, were killed in a railroad wreck in Belgian Congo a few days after history had been made in the falls adventure. Horne was injured in the wreck and is being invalided to America.
